

Sen. McClellan Lashes Back at Chicago Sheriff

WASHINGTON (AP)—Investigations by his Senate subcommittee ran gamblers' race wire information services out of business in Arkansas, Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., said Tuesday.

McClellan challenged a statement by Cook County, Ill. Sheriff Richard Ogilvie that the senator's investigations of gambling, vice and racketeering had not touched Arkansas.

Ogilvie had remarked to newsmen earlier Tuesday that it is possible outsiders might have a hand in gambling in Hot Springs and that they could have been responsible for a $125,000 explosion that rocked the plush Vapors Club during a gamblers' school session.

Ogilvie claimed no first-hand information, but said it is possible outsiders from Chicago could have had a hand in the explosion. His statements were not made voluntarily, the sheriff said, but were in response to questions by a newsmen from the Arkansas Gazette in Little Rock.

The sheriff said he told the newsmen, "It is enigmatic to me why Sen. John McClellan, while investigating gambling, vice and racketeering elsewhere, has never looked into the situation in his home state."

McClellan, asked to comment on Ogilvie's remarks, pointed to the publicized 1961 hearings which explored interstate gambling and wire operations in Hot Springs.

In that hearing witnesses, including Owey Madden, C. Julian Lytle and James Vitro, invoked the 5th amendment in answering most questions concerning interstate operation of an alleged race wire service for Hot Springs bookmakers.

As a result of the hearing, McClellan said, interstate race wires serving Arkansas and several other states were closed down.

A federal grand jury has since investigated gambling activities in the Hot Springs area, but returned no indictments. The investigation is reported to have dealt with operations under new federal laws preventing interstate travel for gambling purposes.

McClellan said, "our committee has no jurisdiction over gambling unless it is in violation of federal law. Congress itself has no power to pass constitutional laws that there shall be no gambling in the United States—but it can and has passed laws dealing with interstate gambling."

In a taped interview broadcast over a Little Rock radio and television station Tuesday night, McClellan said the Department of Justice has spent several months investigating the Vapors Club.

He said no outside ownership of clubs was found, McClellan added that if Ogilvie had definite information that there was outside interests, he would be glad to hear his testimony in Washington.

The senator also said Ogilvie has never contacted him about the matter.

Winds Send Warm Air Over U. S.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Southwesterly winds wafted warm air over the state Tuesday night, and low temperatures early today climbed as high as 55 degrees, the reading at Harrison. Clear skies and sunshine complemented the warm weather, and highs of 62 to 72 were predicted for this afternoon. The warming trend was expected to continue through Friday.

The pleasant weather probably will not hold over the weekend, however. Arctic air was expected to sweep into the state beginning Friday afternoon, bringing occasional rain or showers.

No rainfall was reported during the 24-hour period ending today at 6 a.m.

Other low reading around the state this morning ranged from the low 30s to the high 40s.

Riot Laid to Discipline in Schools

By W. B. RAGSDALE JR.

WASHINGTON (AP)—A special committee reports that the capital's Thanksgiving Day football riot was "a serious racial conflict" brewed in what it calls an overcrowded public school system with lax discipline and a pattern of violence and lawlessness.

This situation, plus the frustration of defeat in a championship high school football game, resulted in "pitting of angry Negroes against whites," the report said.

This was the unanimous verdict Tuesday of an 11-member committee of Negroes and whites after a five-week investigation of a riot at the city title game.

Over 50,000 persons attended the White River and the Arkansas River, which the predominantly white St. John's team defeated the predominantly Negro team from Eastern High School.

More than 42 persons were treated for injuries suffered in the fighting that began in the stadium spilled out into the parking lots and spread over the surrounding neighborhood.

Police have said that scores of others nursed their injuries in quiet without reporting them.

The committee, headed by Dr. Shane MacCarthv, former head of President Dwight D. Eisenhower's Council on Youth Fitness, had been directed by school Superintendent Carl F. Hansen to make a complete study of the riot and its probable cause.

The report said "the hoodlums who went on a rampage at the stadium would have attacked supporters of any victorious team, including a predominantly Negro one, as they have in the past without interference."

The result however, the report said, was a racial incident that damaged relations in the city between Negroes and white persons. The committee said testimony had shown "administrative lack of control over hoodlum elements in the school system and a deteriorating condition in mass audience events outside of the school buildings."

"Fear rages through many school buildings which have become tramping grounds for outside influences, including thugs, hoodlums and persons of the lowest character."

The report said the basic causes went back to the problems of the school system.

In recent years, MacCarthv said, the District of Columbia school system had been swamped by "the rapid growth in numbers of Negro pupils, many with low mental ratings, coupled with increasing crowding of facilities."

Negroes now make up about 75 per cent of the pupils in Washington's public schools.

Lafayette Set for U.S. Aid

STAMPS, Ark. (AP)—Rep. Oren Harris, D-Ark., has announced that Lafayette County has qualified for federal assistance under the Area Redevelopment Act to improve employment conditions.

Under the act, the county will be eligible to receive federal loans for industrial projects, grants and loans for public facilities and technical assistance.

Afraid to Be Out at Night

WASHINGTON (AP)—Charles D. Everett, 20, told Washington police who arrested him Tuesday he held up liquor stores during the daylight hours only.

"I'm afraid to be out on the street at night with all that money," he said.

TWO INJURED — Firemen attempt to bring an oil fire under control after a train crashed into a fuel oil truck in Newark, N.J. Two passengers aboard the train were hit by flying glass, but were not seriously injured. The truck, which railroad officials said stalled at a crossing and was abandoned when the driver went for help, burst into flames and was demolished.

Post Canal Contract to Be Let

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Army Engineers will award the first construction contract for the Arkansas Post Canal by June 30, an Engineer official said Tuesday.

Briggs, Gen. Carroll H. Dunn, southwestern division Engineer said the contract will be for access roads to the canal area and for buildings that will be used as offices for the construction.

Congress has appropriated $300,000 for this preliminary work.

The Arkansas Post Canal will provide a navigation link between the White River and the Arkansas River. It will be 10 miles long and will have a lock and dam near the White River and a lock midway between the two rivers.

Dunn, of Dallas, met in Little Rock Tuesday with Engineer officials to discuss the Arkansas River Development program. Col. Charles D. Maynard, District Army engineer, said Pine Bluff plans or a "slack water" harbor on the Arkansas was discussed.

The Engineers are planning to eliminate a bend in the river near Pine Bluff by digging a new channel. The city wants the old channel left open at the lower end to provide a harbor.

Pine Bluff is seeking aid from the Engineers in relocating some sewage facilities that would be affected by the harbor.

A group of officials from Washington toured the lower part of the Arkansas River by plane to get a better idea of overall planning.

Reasons Nikita Backed Down

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The aviation editor of the Chicago American said Tuesday Russian Premier Khrushchev backed down during last year's Cuban crisis because the United States had a 3-to-1 lead over Russia in the number of missiles on hand.

Peter Reich told a meeting of Little Rock businessmen the United States had 270 long-range missiles while Russia had only 110.

Russia tried to catch up by placing medium-range missiles in Cuba, he said, but the big U.S. edge caused Khrushchev to withdraw them when President Kennedy called his hand.

"The decision to scrap the Skybolt missile was a valid one," he said, adding that the United States had other weapons that would do the job as well as Skybolt, a missile launched from bombers.

Rare Lightning

HONOLULU (AP)—Bolts of lightning—a rarity in Hawaii—jolted downtown Honolulu Tuesday.

Snowfall in the mountains marooned two men overnight and the heaviest rain in five years drenched the city for the second straight day.

Newspaper Awarded

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—The Fayetteville, Ark. Northwest Arkansas Times was awarded second place in promotional campaigns Tuesday night at a banquet of the Southern Classified Advertising Managers Association.

The paper was among 13 southern dailies honored when awards were presented for the best building ideas and best executed planned promotion campaigns. The Times competed in the up-to-20,000 circulation group.

Applications for Loans Fewer

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas office of the Federal Housing Administration said Tuesday it received fewer applications for FHA loans than in any month in recent years.

But Gailther C. Johnston, state FHA director, said the drop was not necessarily due to President Kennedy's anti-discrimination order in federally-backed housing.

Johnson said economic factors also influence housing starts. He added that he would not be able to determine the effect of the order for several months.

The total applications for the months was 304, a drop of 176 from November. The previous low for the past four years was 348 in January 1962. There were 378 applications in December 1961, 376 in December 1960 and 460 in December 1961.

Journalism Scholarship

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)—The Donald W. Reynolds Foundation of Fort Smith has established a scholarship and loan fund to assist journalism education at the University of Arkansas.

Reynolds owns two dozen newspapers and broadcast stations in Arkansas, Oklahoma, Nevada and Alaska. His Arkansas interests are in Fort Smith, Hot Springs, Rogers and Springfield.

A $500 Reynolds Scholarship will be awarded annually to a journalism junior or senior on the basis of outstanding scholarship and journalistic promise.

The Reynolds Loan Fund is intended to help deserving juniors and seniors complete their education for careers in journalism, advertising, broadcasting or accounting. Students may obtain loans of up to $1,000 a year with a maximum of $2,000 to each student during his college career.

Jess B. Covington, chairman of the Journalism Department, said the Reynolds Co. is the only newspaper and broadcasting organization now sponsoring a journalism scholarship at the university.

Shot By Friend Accidentally

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A 16-year-old Little Rock boy was fatally wounded Tuesday when he was shot by a friend playing with what she thought was an unloaded gun, police said.

Police said Ernest Charles Saunders was shot once in the forehead with a .22-caliber pistol at his home. He died several hours later in a Little Rock hospital.

Detective R. D. Bentley said Carolyn Bradford, 16, of Little Rock, pulled the trigger twice before the pistol fired. He said Saunders had given her the pistol and had told her it was not loaded.

The gun belonged to Saunders' brother-in-law. Three other teenagers witnessed the shooting.

State High in Pollution Control

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Arkansas ranks ninth nationally in the cumulative number of federal grant projects for control of water pollution, the state Water Pollution Control Commission reports in its 1962 review.

Lewis J. Johnson of Little Rock, chairman of the commission, said the ninth ranking is in cumulative number of federal grant projects for municipal waste treatment plant construction.

Arkansas ranks second to Louisiana in average flow of water, 456,000 cubic feet a second. The commission completed a stream basin surveys covering 2,172 square miles in 1962 and began surveys covering 6,077 more miles. It certified $807,241 in federal grant funds for 25 municipal waste treatment projects.

Simply No Party At the Mansion

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Mrs. Orval E. Faubus had a rather embarrassing time Tuesday explaining to a number of visitors that there was no party at the governor's mansion.

An article in a Little Rock newspaper Tuesday said the Faubus would hold an open house after Gov. Faubus' inaugural address Tuesday.

It should have read "next Tuesday."

Some people came from out of town, and many were from Little Rock.

Mrs. Faubus told them to come back next week.

What Tshombe Plans Seems Anyone's Guess

ELISABETHVILLE, Katanga (AP)—President Moise Tshombe told a news conference today he intends to carry out a scorched-earth policy if the United Nations attacks Kolwezi. He said Katangans have every major industrial installation mined, ready for demolition.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—U.N. sources said today Katanga President Moise Tshombe could prove his avowed intentions to cooperate with the United Nations by ordering his gendarmes to surrender Kolwezi to the U.N. Congo command.

The informants said Secretary-General U Thant was reacting with extreme caution to the Katanga president's statement in Elisabethville that he wanted to restore peace and calm in Katanga.

The informants added that the secessionist leader had made contradictory statements in the past and that was the reason for Thant's cautious assessment.

By JOHN LATZ

ELISABETHVILLE, Katanga (AP)—Renewed threats by Moise Tshombe to blow up vital industrial installations in Katanga placed the United Nations' Congo reunification drive at a delicate juncture today.

Woes also piled up for the U.N. Command with the reported outbreak of serious tribal fighting in the diamond-mining province of Kasai, a region just northwest of Katanga. The United Nations is short of men there, having moved much of its strength to embattled Katanga.

"My ministers and I have been very busy in Kolwezi preparing the demolition of all industries," Tshombe said on his return to Elisabethville Tuesday from Kolwezi, an industrial city 150 miles from the U.N.-occupied capital.

Union Miniere, the giant company that owns most of the province's mines and utilities, described the sabotage threat as real and appealed "to all responsible parties" for measures to prevent it.

Union Miniere said two dams and power stations in the Kolwezi region which provide more than three-fourths of Katanga's hydroelectric power have been mined. The company said Tshombe's gendarmes occupy its pits and plants in the area.

With only five days remaining before Secretary-General U Thant's deadline for reintegrating Katanga into the Congo, the United Nations must decide whether to brook further delays in order to prevent serious destruction.

Tshombe didn't say what would cause him to give the signal to blow up the mines and utilities of the rich copper-producing region. He has threatened before to resort to scorched-earth tactics rather than accept forced reintegration into the Congo.

U.N. forces have all but shattered Tshombe's military resources in a drive that began last month. Representatives of the central Congo government followed the U.N. armies and have begun to take over the provincial administration.

There was no immediate word from the United Nations on how it proposed to deal with Tshombe's threatened sabotage. When he arrived in the capital, Tunisian United Nations troops withdrew from the presidential palace and Katangan gendarmes resumed duty there.

Ralph J. Bunche, U.N. under-secretary, left by plane to tour northern Katanga. He has said that he and Tshombe had nothing to talk about.

Nearly 400 Congolese and two Belgians were reported killed in the outbreak of fighting in south Kasai, where tribal conflict is chronic.

Kiwanis Objectives Are Outlined

Deen Murphy, new president of Hope Kiwanis club, outlined some of his objectives for the club during the year of 1963 in an address to the club yesterday at its noon luncheon meeting.

Mr. Murphy, also heading the March of Dimes campaign in Hempstead county this year, showed a film strip and urged all support of the fund-raising drive.

Bentonville Sells Bonds

BENTONVILLE, Ark. (AP)—R. E. Baker, superintendent of Bentonville schools, said Tuesday that $350,000 in school bonds were sold to Dabbs Sullivan & Co. of Little Rock at an interest rate of 3.85 per cent.

The money would be used to school building, an addition to the elementary school building and repairs for the high school, he said.

Two Die in Wreck Near Pocahontas

POCAHONTAS, Ark. (AP)—Two men were killed near Pocahontas Tuesday in the collision of a log truck and a freight train just outside the city limits. Both victims were in the truck.

Police identified the victims as Truman Rumsick, 42, and his son, Larry Gene Rumsick, 17, both of Cave City, 40 miles to the southwest.

The truck burst into flames after the impact and it was nearly 30 minutes after the crash before the bodies could be removed.

Arthur Wallace of Little Rock, witnessed the wreck and said he tried to flag the truck down before it was struck by the Frisco Railroad train. Wallace said after the heavily loaded truck skidded into the train logs were scattered over a 50-yard area. Windows on the small diesel engine pulling the six-car train were smashed and splintered logs were lying on its catwalk.

The freight operates on a spur line of the Frisco from Walnut Ridge to Cahfee, Mo. Jim Slayton of Cahfee, the engineer and L. D. Williams, also of Cahfee, the conductor, were not hurt.

Traffic at the crossing on U.S. Highway 67, scene of the accident, was lined up for a half mile on either side of the intersection before the wreckage could be cleared.

Police Dept. Has Two Men to Resign

An apparent shakeup in the Hope Department has resulted in the resignation of two officers, it was learned today.

Ray Torbert, who has been on the force for about five months, has resigned. This morning Hollis Moses, with the department for five years, tendered his resignation, according to Police Chief Jack Brown.

Chief Brown wouldn't comment except to say both men resigned, were not now working and would be paid through January 15. He said he hadn't made any replacement so far but is considering applications.

Draft Quota Is for 9,000 Men

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Defense Department has set the Army's draft quota for March at 9,000 men — the biggest monthly quota since January 1962.

The higher quota, announced Tuesday, was signaled in November when the Army disclosed it would increase its strength by 20,000 men through larger draft calls for six months. The aim is to build the Army manpower to 980,000.

The quota for January and February is 4,800. In December, 6,000 were drafted.

Venus Report Not for Some Time

WASHINGTON (AP)—Full reports of Mariner 2's close-up look at the planet Venus will not be ready until sometime in February, a spokesman for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said Tuesday.

Scientists and technicians, analyzing data from Mariner's Dec. 14 fly-by the planet, had hoped to have the information available this month. Some of the data is taking longer than expected, a spokesman said.

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—The unpredictable 88th Congress swung into action today.

Families, friends and the merely curious packed the galleries of both branches to watch the colorful ceremonies of swearing in new and re-elected members.

But in the offing—for a likely mid-afternoon decision—was a grim political battle to determine whether the House will set up its Rules Committee in such size and complexion that it will not bottle up President Kennedy's major legislative proposals.

Kennedy got earlier assurances at a White House meeting of Democratic leaders that this will be done. He also got their promise they will make every effort to put through a constructive program.

The President will outline his requests in a personally delivered message on the State-of-the-Union Monday.

Senate leaders reached informal agreement to wait until after that time before members begin wrangling over whether to change the rules to make it easier to kill off a filibuster. This effort is certain to provoke a filibuster.

Republicans challenged the Democrats' confident predictions that Kennedy will get a major share of his program through what could be a lengthy session. They looked to conservative Democrats to help them defeat some proposals and water down others.

In the Senate, Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson banged the gavel to get the session underway.

In the House, this duty fell on Clerk Ralph R. Roberts. For the moment, the House was without any elected officers and its first order of business was to organize—mainly meaning to go through the formality of electing Rep. John W. McCormack, D-Mass., as speaker. McCormack was speaker in the last Congress.

Senate Democrats, at a pre-session caucus, re-elected Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana as their floor leader, and Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota as assistant leader or party whip.

They also re-elected Sen. George A. Smathers of Florida as secretary of the Senate Democratic conference. Southern Senators, at a meeting Tuesday, had unanimously requested Smathers to reconsider his announced intention to quit that post.

Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., had said he understood Smathers felt he should resign because of criticism that he did not vote with the administration enough.

Among the House visitors was Edward McCormack, nephew of the speaker, who lost a bid for the U.S. Senate to President Kennedy's brother, Edward, in last fall's Massachusetts primary.

There was a festive air throughout the Capitol and the adjoining office buildings as the opening hour approached. Visitors crowded the corridors and many of the new members held open house, complete with coffee and doughnuts, or stronger beverages.

As an opponent to Rep. McCormack for the speakership, the Republicans put forward their party leader, Rep. Charles A. Halleck of Indiana.

But, since speakership elections always go on party lines, it was just a gesture. The House lineup in the new Congress is 258 Democrats, 176 Republicans and one vacancy.

In the Senate, the party division is 67 Democrats and 33 Republicans.

With the preliminaries out of the way, the House plunges into a battle Kennedy is favored to win over the size and political complexion of the Rules Committee, which calls the signals for action on major legislation. A decision was expected by mid-afternoon on whether to fix the membership of the committee at 15.

nal assurance that liberal-leaning representatives could outvote a conservative coalition of Democrats and Republicans and thus get major administration measures before the House.

The alternative would be return to a 12-member lineup with the conservatives in control. Kennedy has said the fate of his legislative program could hinge on the makeup of the committee. As for the House as a whole, he has said that it is "slightly against us more than it was" in the last Congress.

The bright spot for Kennedy was the Senate. But easy going in the Senate would do the administration little good if the House blocked its proposals.

Congress dup bjt Galley two A coalition of liberal Senate Democrats and Republicans has delayed seeking a rules change which would make it easier to stop filibusters against civil rights and other measures. It plans to move after Kennedy delivers his State of the Union message to Congress next Monday.

Since Southern opponents expected to filibuster against this rules move, there was little likelihood of reaching any early decision on a proposal to give a majority of the 100 members the right to end debate. Presently this can be accomplished only by a two-thirds majority of those voting.

In preliminary action, younger House Republicans ousted 67-year-old Rep. Charles Hoeven of Iowa Tuesday and replaced him with 49-year-old Rep. Gerald Ford of Michigan as chairman of their party's caucus.

Caucusing Senate Democrats hoped to retain their leadership intact under Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana. However, Sen. George A. Smathers of Florida submitted his resignation as secretary of the party conference. Mansfield and other leaders asked him to reconsider.

Senate Republicans kept their lineup unchanged in a caucus at which they received a proposal by Mansfield for a midsummer recess of Congress, with the session to be completed in the fall.

The international situation, which Kennedy outlined late Tuesday at a White House conference with leaders of both parties, will get an immediate look from the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. Secretary of State Dean Rusk will go before the group Friday in a closed session.

On domestic issues, Kennedy faces opposition from the coalition phalanx on top priority proposals. Chief among these are efforts to plug some loopholes in the revenue law and to give tax reductions to corporations and individuals.

In this case coalition members want to cut his expected $99 billion spending budget deeply to make up in part for the tax reductions.

McCormack voiced hope that another of the President's principal proposals, the financing of health care for the elderly through Social Security, will pass the House. But he didn't say when Senate approval seems likely but even friends of this bill don't think it can be cleared before 1964.

Kennedy reportedly will come up with some changes in federal aid to education recommendations, which got nowhere in the 87th Congress.

THIS STORY: Matt Bacon believes that a missing scientist, working on a nuclear power project, has been murdered.

After the contracts were signed, Clague took Matt to the cafeteria, it being about noon. The security officer said that many of the people who worked with Dr. Pruitt and who knew him would be eating there at this hour.

The cafeteria, where food was prepared on Magnetic appliances, was on the second floor of the Administration building. It could handle about 200 employees at a time, and lunch hour shifts had been arranged so that it was never overcrowded.

A pleasant, well-dressed man in his middle thirties was finishing his meal. Clague introduced him as Pruitt's neighbor, Cliff Johnson.

"Too bad about Chet," said Johnson. "I can't imagine what has happened. I can't believe he defected to the Communies. He was a nice man. Quiet, modest, unobtrusive. I was his closest friend. My wife Sarah and I played bridge with the Pruitts at least once a week."

"Did you talk to him last Thursday?" Johnson nodded. "I've been over that ground many times. I had lunch with Chet. We ate right here, about this time. We didn't talk about anything consequential. Bridge mostly. His kids, football. We seldom talk shop at lunch. After lunch he went to the Ad building and I went back to my office in the Appliance building."

He glanced at the clock. "I've got to be running along now, Mr. Bacon. Perhaps you can drop by later, if you have anything else to ask."

He left briskly. Clague said: "The cops have everything he told you."

A white haired man in his sixties, neatly dressed and wearing glasses approached, carrying a tray. Clague rose and said: "Mr. Rispin, I want you to meet Matt Bacon." Simon Rispin paused and looked down at Matt, adjusting the tilt of his head to his bifocals. He smiled. "Indeed? A new employee?"

"A private detective, Mr. Rispin. I'm investigating the Pruitt case," said Matt.

Rispin's eyes lit up. "A private eye! I love detective stories, Mr. Bacon. Mind if I sit down?"

He put his tray, containing a bowl of vegetable soup, a tossed salad and a glass of milk, on the plastic table top and sat down. "You must lead an exciting life, Mr. Bacon. Are real life detectives as swash-buckling, courageous and uh-uh, are they like the ones I read about?"

"There are all kinds, Mr. Rispin," said Matt. "Personally, I'm a coward."

Rispin's head jutted forward as he focussed his eyes through his glasses at Matt. Then he grinned broadly. "You're joking, of course. Ha, ha. Smart aleck types are also my favorites."

He dipped his spoon into the vegetable soup and slurped. "The Pruitt case, uh?" Slurp. "You know anything about it, Mr. Rispin?"

"Nothing, but it doesn't take much detective work to figure out operating a wide spread football gambling operation in Memphis. Lewis, 36, was accused of being the top figure in the ring last Nov. 30, when he was arrested by vice squad officers. Campbell, picked up a week earlier, was accused of hooking an average of $8,000 in bets a week on football games.

Slurp. "Why he left his wife." "Strange," said Clague, "I was always of the opinion they were a happily married couple. I only saw Doc here, but I used to see Belle every other week at the ham club meetings."

Rispin continued his noisy eating of the soup, pausing only long enough to glance sharply at Clague.

"What's the ham club?" Matt asked.

"The Magnetic Employees' Amateur Radio Club," said Clague. "Lots of our technicians are hams. Belle Pruitt used to be a radio engineer before she was married. I joined the club because I had an operator's license from my police days."

Matt turned to Rispin. "Were the Pruitts having domestic trouble?"

Rispin pushed his empty soup bowl aside and attacked his salad. He took a bite, chewed thoughtfully, then spoke with the fork half raised with another lead. "I'd rather not discuss it," he said. "I do know that Chester Pruitt was a difficult man to get along with. He had a disagreeable temper and he was often insolent."

He brought the loaded fork to his mouth.

"I think you've got the Pruitts all wrong, Mr. Rispin."

"You don't know," said Rispin testily. He decided not to finish his salad and pushed the partly-filled bowl aside. He drank the milk in one gulp and dabbed his lips with his napkin. "I'm going back to my office," he said to Matt. "If you care to discuss the matter—in private—I'll be able to spare a few moments. Come along."

Across the table, Clague shook his head again. But Matt said, "Certainly, Mr. Rispin." He pushed back his chair.

Petitions Are Questioned

FORT SMITH, Ark. (AP) — There is some question as to whether petitions requesting an election on an urban renewal project here were adequate, Fort Smith officials said Monday.

They said the question stems from the ballot title, which they say misquoted the city ordinance through which the plan was adopted.

A spokesman said in the petitions the "re" in relocation was left off.

"In the ordinance, the relocation referred to people," he said. "In the petition, the simple location would seem to refer to the project."

The renewal plan is to be discussed at a public hearing Thursday night.

Says Work Harder on River Project

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The death of Sen. Robert Kerr, D-Okla., last week means Arkansas River boosters "are going to have to work that much harder to get the job done," the president of the Arkansas River Basin Association said Monday.

"We're going to have to call on Sen. (John L.) McClellan more than ever...and we're going to have to ask Sen. (J. William) Fulbright's assistance," said William H. Kennedy Jr.

Kerr was a powerful figure in obtaining appropriations for development of the Arkansas River. Kennedy, a Pine Bluff banker, spoke at a meeting of the Little Rock Engineers Club.

Rep. Ed Edmondson, D-Okla., said last week he had talked with Army Engineers and that he didn't feel Kerr's death would delay the project. He said most appropriations needed by the engineers already had been obtained and that the national administration was committed to the project.

Hope Duplicate Bridge Club Meets

Mrs. R. L. Broach and Dr. Harold Brents tied with Mrs. R. T. White and Mrs. Floyd Ellis of Cleburne, Tex., for first place scoring honors at the Hope Duplicate Bridge Club meeting Monday, January 7 at the Diamond.

Life In State Institution Not Pretty

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen: Due to a nervous breakdown brought about by the suicide of a close relative, I found myself committed to a state hospital without benefit of trial or hearing.

During that year I learned many things. Freedom is a non-existent word in a closed ward. While meals were served promptly three times a day they consisted of milk, butter and starches, a diet which resulted in making us overweight and stodgy.

"Occupational therapy" (actually slave labor) consisted of work with no pay in laundry, beauty parlor and sewing room.

I know of one patient who works five days a week in the laundry, her only reward being permission to attend certain social activities. In closed wards only the barest essentials are provided: drab, prison-like dresses, thick brown stockings, heavy, ill-fitting brown Oxfords and toothbrushes.

The little niceties of life, dear to every woman — face cream, hair brush, lipstick, powder and emoryboards for finger nails are unknown. As a result each patient becomes dowdy, with a corresponding low morale. Fortunately I had friends and family who eventually disentangled me from this dreadful situation. Those who have no one to plead their cause vegetate.

Yet numerous women's groups motivated by mistaken kindness contributed party favors and Christmas gifts to those poor unfortunates. As a decent law-abiding citizen, I am aghast at the conditions I saw with my own eyes. If this was true of one state hospital, it could be true of others. What, if anything, can be done to change the picture? —A Former Patient

Dear Former: Mental patients are so unpredictable in their reactions that it is almost impossible to offer a general panacea for the conditions you describe. Agreed that freedom is non-existent in a closed ward but how could it be otherwise with the appalling shortage of trained attendants?

Lack of experienced help is the crux of the problem. Care of mental patients is an expensive business. To put them in private sanitariums often reduces the family to penury—I saw a first hand example of this in the case of an old friend whose son had periods of insanity. The state at least provides a place for them to go. The quality of the institution depends upon management and funds. Some are better than others.

Where bad conditions exist, the trouble is sometimes apathy, but mostly lack of personnel and lack of money to attract trained personnel. If this be so, someone should go to the State legislature and stir up a rumpus to get a larger appropriation for their State's mental hospitals.

Except for routine State checks, there is no national system as such. A state hospital may ask for an inspection and there is a group which responds to the invitation by the hospital itself to look into conditions. If the situation in the hospital where you were confined is as grim as you describe, do something about it yourself—as one who speaks from first hand experience.

See our state senator. Organize the women in your community to right these wrongs. As a group you might persuade the Ford or Rockefeller Foundations to make a survey of conditions. Meanwhile, get in touch with the National Association for Mental Health, Inc., 10 Columbus Circle, New York City.

girl seeking information for myself and my friends. With the world in the condition it is, we feel we should do something useful.

We're concerned that in many countries the United States is considered not a leader but an easy mark in the fight for freedom. If a lot of young people like ourselves gave of our time instead of money to some worthwhile international organization, we might change this conception. Can you help us? —Looking for Work

Dear Looking: It's all very well to dream of traipsing off to do good in some foreign land but the logical place to begin is home. Hospitals are in desperate need of nurses' aides. There is a lack of social workers in our welfare centers. Child care agencies would welcome help of conscientious volunteers. Start the ball rolling by organizing your group. Find out what each girl is best qualified to do then offer your services to the various organizations. Be certain to name the hours you would be free to help.

Send your problem to Helen Worden Erskine. Be sure to enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope and address to care of this newspaper. Helpful leaflets available. Write for "Ten Commandments for Happiness."

Bypass Discussion

MCCRORY, Ark. (AP)—A public hearing has been set Jan. 16 at McCrory to discuss relocation of U.S. Highway 64 to bypass the city. The proposed new road would run from about nine miles east of Augusta to two miles east of McCrory and would cost about $750,000.

Rifle Battalion Is Activated

FT. CHAFFEE, Ark. (AP)—The 5th Armored Rifle Battalion, 41st Infantry, has been activated as a Strategic Army force unit at Ft. Chaffee, the Army announced today.

The new armored infantry battalion will use 80 amphibious armored personnel carriers. The unit is commanded by Lt. Col. Peter A. Dul.

The battalion is the first of its type to be stationed at Ft. Chaffee since the departure of the 16th Armored Division in 1944.

Decide to Wait on the Legislature

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A meeting between Gov. Orval E. Faubus and an actuary for the state Teacher Retirement System probably will be delayed until after the legislature convenes next week.

Faubus and the actuary, A. G. Gabriel of Detroit, are to discuss how much the state should contribute annually to the retirement system to keep its percentage of unfunded liability from rising.

The meeting is one of a series in an effort to work out a compromise on teacher retirement which became the major controversy of the 1961 legislative session.

The Education Department asked for a total of $12.5 million during the 1963-65 biennium, an amount which the board felt needed to keep the system actuarially sound.

The Legislative Council recommended a total outlay of $9 million and appointed Mississippi County Rep. L. H. Autry to meet with the governor and school officials to determine what the amount should be.

A source close to the governor said a tentative figure decided on has been arrived at pending the meeting between the governor and Gabriel.

Faubus insisted in 1961 that the state's contribution be held to

Another Kennedy Already Picked

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy's shrewd political eye has lighted on one of his family as presidential timber or at least a sprig.

The evidence, on Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy's office wall, is a photograph of his son David, 7, sitting beside the pool on the White House south grounds.

The picture bears this inscription from David's uncle, the President:

"A future president inspects his property."

Robert Kennedy said the photograph was taken last year by the First Lady.

Campus Building

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)—A low base bid of $2,274,274, was submitted Tuesday by Kelley-Nelson Construction Co. of Little Rock for construction of a science-engineering building at the University of Arkansas campus. The building would house the mathematics, zoology and electrical engineering departments of the university and a computing center. It is scheduled to be completed in the fall of 1964 and would be financed by a $2.1 million appropriation of the 1961 General Assembly and a $217,000 grant by the National Science Foundation for research facilities.

$7.6 million during the current biennium. The Arkansas Education Association wanted $12 million during the period.

Unfunded liability is the amount of total funds on hand that the retirement system lacks to meet all its obligations if all its members retire on schedule.

Total unfunded liability as of June 30, 1962, was 14,024,212, or 65.4 per cent of the total liability.

OH, MY ACHING BACK

Now You can get the fast relief you need from nagging backache, headache and muscular aches and pains that often cause restless nights and miserable tired-out feelings. When these discomforts come on with over-exertion or stress and strain — you want relief — want it fast! Another disturbing may be mild bladder irritation following wrong food and drink — often setting up a real uncomfortable feeling. Thought For The Day
What an absurd thing it is to pass over all the valuable parts of a man, and fix our attention on his infirmities—Addison said it.

Calendar Of Events
Rev. J. P. Dennis, Jr. of Wichita, Kansas will conduct revival services at the Mt. Ephesus Baptist Church, Prescott, Arkansas. Beginning tonight at 7:30 and ending Friday night, January 11. The public is invited to attend.

The Hopewell P.T.A. will meet Thursday, January 10, at 3 o'clock p.m. All parents are urged to attend. Mrs. Lucille Cole, Reporter.

The Cotillion Social Club will meet in the home of Mrs. Evelyn Williamson, Washington, Arkansas Thursday, January 10, at 7:45 p.m. All members are urged to be present. Miss E. L. Ford, President; Mrs. G. Williamson, Reporter.

The Yerger Shover P.T.A. held its regular meeting with President Carmichael in charge. After the devotion, the minutes were read by Mrs. Emma Edwards and Mrs. Louise Hicks made the treasurer's report.

Captains on the membership drive reporting were, Mrs. J. M. McGhee, Mrs. Pauline Walker, Miss B. L. Brittain and Delton Collins.

An interesting quiz was conducted on Government. The Yerger Shover P.T.A. extends a cordial invitation to the citizens of Hope and surrounding areas to plan now to attend a city-wide meeting on January 1, at the Yerger High School. The ministers are urged to alert their congregations, all religious, P.T.A.'s civic and social presidents are asked to urge their members to be present. This is a 'must' for the parents and their teenagers. This meeting is being planned with 'you' the citizen in mind. This is one of 'the' meetings of the year. Prominent persons are being programmed. Watch the paper for more details. C. G. Carmichael, President; Mrs. C. Williamson, Reporter.

Anna F. Strong Club Elects Officers
Mrs. E. L. Hicks was hostess to the Anna F. Strong Federated Club in its first meeting of the new calendar year Friday, night, January 4, 1963.

After the business session all officers made their annual reports. The retiring president, Mrs. M. L. Rutherford, made a very impressive address. She spoke from the subject, "The Art of Growing Old" in which she stress-

Planes Try to Scatter Geese Flocks

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—

Wildlife authorities sent airplanes swooping over flocks of geese in the Swan Lake Refuge in Southwest Missouri this week, hoping to disturb the birds into the air and herd them south to replenish Arkansas' depleted supply of honkers.

Numerous vehicles and personnel were also used in the "goose drive," designed to force the birds further south than their preferred wintering quarters.

In Arkansas, U.S. Fish and Wildlife agents have set out 8,000 live "decoys" for the Missouri flocks—6,000 in the Holla Bend Refuge near Dardanelle and 2,000 in the White River Refuge in southeast Arkansas.

The decoys were trapped at Swan Lake late last year and transported to Arkansas. Their fly feathers were plucked to keep them grounded

Local Teams Take 2 of 3 From Emmet

By CARTER HARDAGE

Emmet traveled to Hope last night, and the best Bears took two out of three games. Hope's Junior Girls fell 28-21, but the Senior Girls won 52-47, and the "B" Team really tore up Emmet 66-26.

In Emmet's 28-21 over the Junior Girls, Emmet went ahead 6-2 at the first quarter, and widened the gap to 12-11 at the half. Hope edged up to 22-16, but finally fell 28-21. Becky Lewis was high with 15, and Dianne Purdie had 6. Hale had 15 for Emmet.

Hope's Lady Cats defeated Emmet 52-47. Taking an early 14-6 lead, they widened it to 30-16 at the half. Emmet edged up to 41-31, and came still closer but could not quite make it. So Hope took the game 52-47. Janice Lloyd was high with 26. Shirley Smith was second with 15, followed by Carolyn Hatfield with 9 and Annette Hatfield with 2. Faulkner scored 32 for Emmet.

In the "B" Boys 66-26 comp. Hope really got off to a good start, scoring 11 points in the first two minutes of play. Hope was leading 20-0 with thirty-five seconds to go in the first quarter. When Emmet scored on a free throw, Score at the first quarter was 30-2. Emmet managed to stay with Hope in the second quarter to make it a 38-10 halftime score. Hope went on to 57-18 at the third quarter, and finally won 66-26. Leading the many scorers for Hope was Bud-Jordan with 13 points. Then came: Honeycutt and Tomkins with 9 each; Hentley 7; Billings 5; Thrash, Powell, and Beard 4 each; McNatt and Mayfield 3 each; Reinhardt, Wassell, and Guerin with 2 each, and Webb with 1. Dougan had 10 for Emmet.

Friday, Junior and Senior Boys play Smackover here in a conference game.

Texas and A&M on Top of League

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Texas A&M's smart cadets and the University of Texas' battling Longhorns stayed atop Southwest Conference basketball Tuesday night with their third straight victories of the championship race.

The Aggies took a 71-61 decision over the Rice Owls Tuesday night as the surging Longhorns smothered Baylor 76-38.

The Arkansas Razorbacks stayed in contention with a decisive 81-59 victory over Texas Christian's Horned Frogs. And the Southern Methodist Mustangs whipped their twin co-champion defenders, Texas Tech, 70-61.

Mike Humphrey stole the show in Austin's Gregory Gym as the Horns stomped Baylor in an error-filled game.

Humphrey scored 21 points and grabbed 15 rebounds as he put on his best performance of a stellar career.

The 36-point victory margin matched Texas' all-time high against Baylor, the record established in a 57-19 Longhorn triumph back in 1915. Texas had its hottest night of the season, canning 33 of 57 field goal attempts for a blaz-

Guernsey Is Victim of G. Central

At Guernsey last night Genoa Central wasn't too nice to the home team and walked away with three victories.

The Guernsey Junior girls lost 35 to 21 with Ravencraft making 12 points Burns had 15 for Genoa Central.

The Genoa Central girls posted a 50 to 30 win. Black made 13 for Guernsey and Hyman 27 for the visitors. In the Senior boys game the visitors posted a 68 to 50 win. Coleman tossed in 15 for Guernsey while Easley and Page had 16 each for the winners.

Ouachita Climbs in AIC Ranks

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

High-flying Ouachita came tumbling down and State Teachers and Arkansas A&M climbed atop the Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference heap in basketball battles Tuesday night.

Arkansas College cut down the Tigers 61-59 at Batesville on the gunning of Lavaughn Robertson, who hit 23 points.

State Teachers whipped Hendrix 66-57 in their first athletic meeting in Conway in 18 years, and Arkansas A&M shocked Arkansas Tech 61-60 on a 25-foot jump shot by Charles (Red) Cobb in the last minute. The Texas Cent averaged 57.9 per cent average. The Texas Aggies stayed abreast of the Longhorns and despite leads of 13 and 12 points in the first and second halves, respectively, had to fight down to the wire against the pressing Owls.

Lee Walker led Cadet scoring with 18 points and pulled down 11 of the Aggies' 50 rebounds. Benny Lennox hit for 16 points and Jerry Windham had 12 points and 12 rebounds for the Cadets.

Rice's stellar Kendal Rhine fired in 21 points and had 9 rebounds.

The spirited Horned Frogs whittled a 20-point Arkansas lead in half in the second half, but the Razorbacks rallied to take their second circuit victory in three starts.

Texas Christian substitutes, who may be seeing more action, ignited the Frogs' second half rally and cut the Hog lead to 58-48. But the Horned Frogs were never able to pull closer.

Larry Wofford and Tommy Boyer paced the Razorbacks with 23 and 20 points, respectively. Arkansas hit 19 of 21 from the free throw line with a sophomore, Jim Bane, missing two free shots in the game.

In the battle of the defending co-champions at Dallas, Southern Methodist put on a Silky Sullivan finish in the first half after being behind 13 points. The Mustangs managed to lead 31-30 at the intermission and finally took a 10-point lead in the second half.

Dave Siegmund led the Ponies with 17 points while Sid Wall was pitching in 13 for the Raiders.

The battles begin anew Saturday night with Southern Methodist entertaining Texas A&M at Dallas. Arkansas invading Hous-

Wofford and Boyer Lead Hogs to Win

FORT WORTH (AP) — Tommy Boyer, Arkansas' sharp-shooting guard, dumped in three quick baskets Tuesday night to break a 19-19 tie and set the pace for the Razorbacks' 81-59 trouncing on Texas Christian.

The Porkies raced to a 38-29 halftime lead and after coming out of the dressing room, built their margin to 20 points, 57-37.

Texas Christian sent in four substitutes that ignited a second-half rally but the Frogs could manage to cut the lead only to 58-48. They never came any closer.

Larry Wofford and Boyer paced Arkansas to its second Southwest Conference victory in three outings. Wofford scored 23 and Boyer 20. Arkansas hit 19 of 21 from the free throw line, with sophomore Jim Bane missing two charity shots with four seconds left in the game.

The Frogs managed only 15 of 25 successful free throws.

five seconds at Monticello. In the only other league game, Harding hit a sizzling 55 per cent from the floor to hand Southern State its ninth straight defeat, 85-60, in Magnolia.

The Highlanders squeezed ahead of Ouachita on a jump shot by David Seward with 2:35 to play and never trailed again. Seward and Dean Hooks hit free throws to keep Arkansas College out of range, and Robertson led it with two consecutive field goals with 18 seconds left.

Cobb's nervy shot came after A&M had held the ball for one minute and 12 seconds while 2,500 fans rapidly became delirious.

Tech got the ball back with one second to play, and Kenny Saylor, the wondrous Wonder Boy, missed a 25-foot shot at the buzzer. Saylor, Bob Ratchford and Larry Lafavers each hit 13 points for Tech. Cobb and Solon Mobley each got 14 for A&M.

State Teachers, paced by Fred White's second-half effort, put down Hendrix in the Warriors' gym, looked 1,500 fans, mostly students, while on. There were no disturbances.

The Teachers-Hendrix rivalry was ended 18 years ago when fans of each team began to take the athletic contests too seriously, officials said. The AIC agreed in 1961 that all teams must play round robin schedules or forfeit the games they decline to lay.

Hapless Southern State managed only a 28.5 shooting percentage from the field against Harding's tenacious zone defense. Ryan Touchton hit 15 points to lead the Bisons.
